Re: Shogoro SHIMONO, #10716

The fishing vessel declared on JP has not been sold.

Frank Hart, Goose Bay Cannery, stated (27/8/43) that this was an old flat-bottom skiff with a 4 HP Easthope engine that was half to pieces. It was in the bone yard at the head of the Bay.

The value of this boat would certainly be low. Shimono reported that he had paid $85.00 for the boat just before he left Goose Bay.

The cost of having this boat located and appraised would certainly be in excess of the value of the boat.

There has been no reply from Shimono to our letter of September 28, 1943.

Nothing further can be done about this, until such time as Shimono communicates with us.

RIVERS INLET

Reference to file A/52 will show that this dogfish gear was valued in the summer of 1942 at $65.00. In late August the writer turned down an offer of $50.00 as it was not up to the valuation set by Mr. Leekie.

In October, however, Mr. Johnston arrived in Vancouver from Rivers Inlet and advised the writer that the dogfish gear should be sold for anything it would fetch as it would be worthless in the spring of 1943.

The best offer that could be obtained was for $25.00 which has been accepted and credited equally to the five Japanese whose names were attached to this gear.

Dear Sir: —

I have received your letter of July 17 which questioned about the boat 28' long 6' beam 4 HP last Hope Gas engine, I left at Goose Bay Rivers Inlet, B.C.

I caught the boat just before I left Goose Bay from my friend for $85.00. It was just a small stiff boat so it did not have any name, port of registry or Naval No. Before I left, I left it tied to the cannery wharf and asked Mr. Frank Nash, who was cannery watchman then, to look after it. There is no receipt or documents made and I have trusted Mr. Nash.

If you would get in touch with Mr. Nash I'm sure he will help you in tracing the boat.

Dear Sir:

Your request through the Custodian at Vancouver for a refund of boat fare for yourself and wife from Goose Bay, Rivers Inlet, to Vancouver, on Union Steamship Cardero, January 28th, 1942, claiming $35.00:

I have taken this up with the Canadian Fishing Company, who verify that you were located at Beaver Cannery in December, 1941, and that you came to Vancouver about January 20th, 1942, to arrange for a gas boat; but while you were in Town you were given to understand that you had two weeks to evacuate from Goose Bay.

However, on taking the matter up with the Union Steamships they advise there is no record of yourself and wife having made the trip from Rivers Inlet to Vancouver on the Cardero January 28th, nor on the steamship preceding or following this trip. You claim you paid $18.10 each. The regular cabin fare at that time was $19.00, the deck fare $9.20, including tax. Therefore, unless you can send the ticket stubs, the receipt for the money paid, or some further information that will enable us to verify that you made the trip at this time and paid your fares, shall not be able to make refund. Any further information you can give will be carefully considered.

Mr. Shimono formerly of Goose Bay Cannery, left his gas boat tied to the piling on the beach and He did not ask me to look after it for him. His boat was an old flat bottom skiff with a 4. H. P. Easthope engine that was half to pieces.

A year ago this summer a chap by the name of Johnny Hamuse used it for fishing. He took Shimono's engine out and put his own in. After fishing he took his own engine out again and put Shimono's back in and left it tied to the beach.

The boat is now up in the bone yard at the head of the Bay. with the old engine in.

Hope that this information is O. K.

Dear Sir:

With further reference to your letter of July 30th, in regard to the boat left at Goose Bay, Rivers Inlet, we attach a copy of a letter received from Mr. Frank Hart.

The practice of the Custodian has been, in the case of articles which were deteriorating in value (such as, boats), to have these appraised and sold as quickly as possible so that the owner might receive the best price possible for his property. In the case of your boat, however, lying as it is at a point some distance from any city, the cost of sending a man to Goose Bay for the purpose of appraising it would be excessive.

We shall endeavour to sell your boat, but we may not be successful. The present value of this boat, judging from Mr. Hart's letter, is very low. We shall be pleased to receive your comments and advice in regard to the disposal of this vessel.
