Mr. Hikosaburo HIGATAKIYA,

Dear Sir:

We have been delayed in responding to your letter of May 12th due to the fact that Miss Shaw, the teacher of the school conducted by the church, has been absent during the summer months and we were obliged to wait her return to continue our investigations regarding your chattels.

The articles mentioned in your letter were not in the premises and she was unable to explain their absence unless they had been stolen by thieves. She admitted that the church building had been vacant for two years, during which period the property had been entered by thieves on two occasions. Miss Shaw has agreed to write to another teacher, Miss Hurd, who is up country at present, and ascertain if she can give us any information on the subject.

In the attic we found some packages containing porcelain which may be yours, but this cannot be determined until these articles are separated from the church property. It would appear that Miss Hurd is the only one who knows about this and we will be compelled to wait until a reply is received from her.

Yours truly,

RE: Mrs. Hikosaburo BAGATAKIYA

Dear Sir:

We attach hereto copy of a letter received from the above mentioned person wherein you will note she declared a considerable quantity of household furniture and personal effects left at 2196 Columbia Street.

This address being the property of the Fairview United Church, the writer has made several calls there and interviewed Miss Shaw, the teacher, who in turn stated that she was comparatively new to the situation, and that the one best acquainted with the disposition of the chattels would be Miss Hurd, now absent from Vancouver.

We have been unable to gain any satisfaction and require some explanation that would enable us to reply to Mrs. Bagatakiya.

We would ask you to be kind enough to institute an investigation and advise us of the results.

Yours truly,

G. B. Spain

Dear Sir:

With further reference to the chattels which you state were left at 2196 Columbia Street, we have devoted a considerable amount of time trying to discover the whereabouts of your personal property. We have contacted the church officials but have failed to gain a satisfactory explanation. At present it would appear that your furniture was stolen by thieves as we were advised that the church property had been entered by thieves on more than one occasion.

The Custodian removed a limited quantity of chattels from a small room in the church, but these articles were all identified as belonging to other Japanese. He did not discover your things.

We cannot see that we can be of further service to you and would suggest that you contact the church officials for a full explanation.

Yours truly,

From: C. Girard

Re: NAGATAKIYA, Yen (Mrs. Hikosaburo) Reg. No. 06079.

A wooden cabinet sold on this file for the net sum of $0.49 is being transferred to Chattel Suspense Account. The auction sheet gives File 9354 and it is not certain that the cabinet belongs to this woman. No trace can be found of the other goods moved to the warehouse from 2162 Columbia Street and until such time as they can be located it is felt that it would be better to place this in suspense.
