Dear Sir:-

You declared some logging tools at the Pacific Shingle Company, Indian River. We have recently contacted Mr. Thompson of the Pacific Shingle Company and this gentleman has introduced us to an independent appraiser who has recently visited the Indian River operation. This gentleman reports that the saws, axes, and wedges left there are very worn and of little value, but that there are thirty or forty sledge hammers in good shape. We do not know whether we shall be able to secure any offers for the sale of what remains there, failing which it will just stay where it is. If you have any suggestions, please advise.

Yours truly,

H. F. Green

Dear Sirs:-

Re: YAMAMOTO, Jitsuji
NAKASHOJI, Masasi

Further to ours of December 14th, we should be grateful if you could refer to us any offers you yourself or any other interested parties would be prepared to make for the logging tools of the above Japanese at Indian River. Please do not conclude any deal without referring to us as we have to be careful to have such sales approved by the owners or by our Advisory Committee in cases where the owners do not agree but where it seems to be in their best interests to sell.

We realize that you may not be able to secure any offers and in that case we would ask you to be so kind as to do what you can to safeguard these tools.

Yours truly,

H. F. Green

Dear Sirs:- Re:- Your files - #11456 and #11468

Further to the writer's conversation with your Mr. Green and your subsequent letter of November 29th, we have now received a report from our former watchman at Indian River, being as follows:-

"I finally got around to making the trip up to the camp, found two of the houses had been broken into couldn't tell if anything had been taken. I made a rough inventory of the Jap tools it works out about as follows:- saws - 32; picks - 1; pexies - 5; axes - 5; hammers - 5; wedges - 180 pounds (in weight); I could not very well open them up (the several bundles) to make a count. There are some small tools such as saw-handles etc. in with the wedges."

No idea as to the cost or the time required to bring these tools down to tide-water was given. We doubt that the expense of their removal would be warranted as all the tools are second hand ones.

Yours truly,

"M. F. Thompson"

Dear Sirs:

On checking our files we find that the above Japanese declared a few logging tools left with you when he evacuated last year. Have you any record of the tools in question?

3 Saws	1 Peavy
2 Axes	4 Wedge.
1 Sledge Hammer

Could we request your good office to continue to care for these or could you obtain any offers for their disposal.

Yours truly,

H. F. Green,
