

Timeline

Please put the events in order by putting them beside the matching date

Name: _____

	World War II ends. All internment camps, except for New Denver, are ordered to close and settlements of shacks bulldozed. Japanese Canadians are told to move east of the Rockies or be exiled to Japan.
	Japan attacks Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, USA. The US declares war on Japan. Canada declares war on Japan. All Japanese Canadians, regardless of where they were born, are seen as a threat to national security.
	The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms comes into being.
	Japanese people begin to arrive in British Columbia and settle along the coast. Manzo Nanago is the first Japanese individual known to land and settle in Canada.
	Japanese Canadian communities throughout Canada celebrate the 125th anniversary of the arrival of the first immigrant from Japan. "Things" Japanese have become part of Canadian society. Inter-marriage is very common.
	Four years after the end of World War II, all restrictions are lifted; Japanese Canadians are allowed to return to the BC coast and are given the right to vote.
	A delegation is sent to Ottawa by the Japanese Canadian Citizens' League to seek the right to vote.
	Redress. The Government of Canada acknowledges the injustices suffered by Japanese Canadians during wartime and offers an apology and monetary compensation.
	All Japanese Canadians are forcibly moved from the 100-mile "protected" area along the BC coast. While they are interned, their homes, businesses, farms, fishing boats, properties, and personal possessions are sold without their consent.